ITALIAN XMAS DAY CRIME

The Italians must pay dearly for their crime of bombing the women and children of undefended Corfu on Christmas Day, stated the Athens newspaper "Estia" yesterday.

The paper adds: "British airmen showed their truly civilised nature by dropping Christmas gifts from their aeroplanes for the children of Corfu.

"Bombs were falling like manna. Fires spread to the hangars at Heroult and there was a gigantic conflagration lasting five hours. Now, as soon as night falls, the people all go to ground. Everyone goes, even German soldiers," the message declared.

Incidentally the French newspaper "Petit Journal" was suppressed for stating that 70,000 German troops had been withdrawn from Le Havre, that the Kleber Barracks were badly damaged and petrol dumps and an ammunition train destroyed.

The newspaper "Berliner Boersen Zeitung" recently stated that nearly 1,000,000 children have evacuated from bombed areas in Germany.

DUCE'S DAUGHTER EDDA FIGHTS FOR PEACE

MUSSOLINI'S DAUGHTER Edda is causing a split in Fascist councils which may in the end affect the whole course of the war. Ribbentrop and Ciane, according to an Italian source in London, forced Mussolini into war against Britain in opposition to the advice of Edda, who has broken with her husband, Ciano, because of this.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS FOR RAISING MONEY FOR WAR PURPOSES WERE AN-NOUNCED BY SIR KINGSLEY WOOD, CHAN-CELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER, IN A BROAD-CAST SPEECH IN LONDON LAST NIGHT.

A new issue of a 21/2 per cent. National War Bonds will be available for purchase beginning on January 2, while sale of the present issue of 2½ per cent. National War Bonds will cease on December 31.

The new bonds will be issued at par (tnat will be £100 for bonds) with a face value of £ 100) and will be repayable on or after August 15, 1946 and not later than the same date in 1948. Also on sale beginning on January 2 will be a new security called 3 per cent. Savings Bonds. These, said the Chancellor, would also be issued at par and would be repaid at par on or after August 15, 1955 and not later than the same date in 1965. Both these Bonds, Sir Kingsley explained, would be available' through the Bank of England with a minimum subscription of £100. In addition, smaller investors will be calered for through the Post Office and Trustee Savings Banks,

In these cases, the minimum subscription would be £25 and amount would be maximum £1,000 to each type of bond.

AT 2.30, 5.10, 7.15 & 9.30 P.M. GERMAN DESIGNS FRENCH FLEET SAID THWARED

M. HENRI HAYE, Vichy Ambassador to Washington, is reported to have told Mr. Sumner Welles (U.S. Under-Secretary of State) that the dismissal of Laval has removed any danger that might have existed of the Island of Martinque being used by the Axis Powers as a base against the United States.

It is expected that more information about the situation at Vichy will be available after the new U.S. Ambassador, Rear-Admiral Leahy, has had time to draw up a report.

Admiral Leahy is now on his way to France in the U.S. cruiser

Tuscaloosa. It is thought that the appointment of this American naval of ficer as Ambassador will stand him in good stead in his relations with Admiral Darlan (Vichy Minister of Navy) who is becoming a prominent figure in the Petain Cabinet.

Darlan's Paris Visit

The future of the French Navy is almost as vital to the United States as it is to Britain, and Admiral Darlan is in a key-position.

London circles point out. Admiral Darian returned on Thursday from a visit to Paris. It is suggested that while in Paris he saw Herr Abetz, the Nazi envoy to France, but this report has not yet been confirmed.

What is known is that on his return to Vichy, Admiral Darlan had a long conference with Marshal Petain and other members of the Cabinet.

African Move

It is thought likely that his visit was in connection with German demands for naval help from France, demands which have been keeping Vichy in a state of crisis for many days.

No definite clue is yet available, but there is some interest In an announcement by Radio Algiers that a considerable num. her of French naval personnel are being sent to North Africa on a holiday which is apparently to last for at least a whole

It is possible that this step has been taken to get them away from the Germans. This report, together with M. Haye's assurance to Mr. Sumner Welles and the obvious irritation displayed by the German press, all suggest that German plans are being successfully thwarted.—Reuter.

SHOULD END THIS

If a German bomb destroys your birth and marriage certificates — vital documents in these days—the Government will charge you 10s. 2d. to replace them.

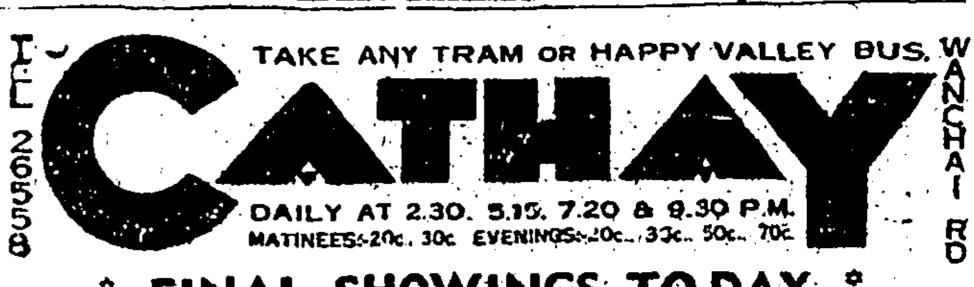

In all the elaborate arrangements made this point has, it seems been overlooked...

Take the case of Mr. A. E. Ramsey, a Londoner who lost everything he possessed in an air raid. For legal reasons it was necessary for him to obtain certificates of his marriage and birth certificates for himself, wife and two children.

"No Exception"

He wrote to Somerset House, who replied that they, could make no exception in the case of air-raid losses.

The copies could be supplied only on payment of £1 5s. 5d. This point is of vital importance in connection with claims for old age and widows' pensions. It would be a small gesture for the authorities to make if they decided to forgo their fee in such circuml'stances.

UNITED CANADA DISCOVERS POWERS IN

CANADIANS MEAN business in their war against aggression. On a 2,700-mile tour of military airports, factories, and camps from Hamilton to Halifax, a visiting group of American writers and publishers remarked most frequently on Canada's sturdy determination.

More United Than Ever rearmament to a deliberate tempo.

Entering the second year of war at the side of Britain and other members of the British Commonwealth of Nations, Canadians unite that their own freedom is bound up with that of the remaining free peoples on all continents.

Nor is this a conclusion imposed from London. Everywhere we went in Canada we were impressed with the attitude of independence. Canada has made its choice voluntarily. Seemingly re-

No longer is Canada battling for Britain as though the struggle were limited to Europe. Britain is still regarded as the first line of defence not only for Canada but for all free people. But the Dominion has become conscious of the need to prepare for hemisphere defence. That has brought in a new policy of military cooperation with the United States.

Big Change In Quebec

Another change apparent especially in Quebec is the internal unification of Canada under stress of war conditions. Canada can now be said to have united completely for the first time in 20 years. Those familiar with 1914-1918 say that the present national upsurge already goes far beyond

Canada's industry, while only beginning to turn out the flow of military essentials that will pour forth in another year, has been transformed in four months. The slow-moving pace of pre-Blitzkrieg preparations, keyed closely A New Canada Is Born to the British plan for a long war, has given way to a gramme combining speed endurance. A profound change has come ada suddenly found itself thrown with the necessity of turning to the United States for tools and other productive equipment. Formerly Canadian guns and ammunition were modeled for interchange with British artillery, as well as small arms. All Canadian fighting was presumed to occur outside Canada. The same necessity continues, and Canada is steadily sending aviators and other fighters overseas.

In this aim the United States looms large. Canadians are grateful - and no other word quite expresses their attitude — for evidences of American support. Our party arrived at Halifax when several of the transferred American destroyers had just been at sea on trial runs. The Canadians were delighted with them. On a visit to the ships we found them fully and well equipped, down to new typewriters!

The courtesies extended to our party lost nothing from Canada's wartime omission of formal dress and dispensable luxury. The Earl of Athlone, Governor General, and Princess Alice graciously réceived us at Ottawa. The Prime Minister entertained us at dinner. Canadian-American friendship, long a tradition, is deepening and broadening under world stresses."

Looks Ahead To Peace

Within Canada, too, minor differences are disappearing in the common endeavour. We saw French Canadians and British Canadians drilling together, with instructions given in French, and then the commands barked out in English.

Realistic displays of modern warfare were staged for our benefit. At the air fields and air schools that are relied on to turn the tide of battle over England, we saw evidences that this is no idle dream. Canadians feel that their airmen are; among the best in the world, and impartial observers agree.

Canada is looking ahead to the peace, All of those 88 new air fields across the Dominion should stimulate commercial and private aviation.

Morale is excellent. In one munitions factory, the workers were more than, cheerful, they were happy, practically singing at their work. Victory is Canada's goal, a victory for human rights, and in that conviction no sacrifice is too

LONDON FACES TWO DEATHS

THIS IS THE STORY of baby Marina, who wasso near to death that the vibration from a bomb would have killed her.

So frail was the thread holding her to life that when a famous London hospital had to be evacuated Marina was the only patient who could not be moved.

Marina, who is three months old, has been in an oxygen tent for a fortnight suffering from pneumonia and a rare disease involving extreme weakness of the muscles.

"The least vibration would have /"Even a change of temperature by carrying her gently out of the ward might have had the same result. So Marina was one patient that we couldn't evacuate.

"We made her oxygen tent as safe as we possibly could and a nurse volunteered to remain at her side."

Doctors Carry On Operations

It was a night of agony for the hospital, but courage and devotion to duty triumphed.

First, a bomb fell at 3.30 a.m. on the medical students' quarters. There were a number of casualties, three requiring immediate opera-

While they were being taken to the hospital an unexploded bomb was found in a building adjoining the hospital.

A police official gave the order for the hospital to be evacuated without delay.

But the operations on the casualties could not be stopped. Doctors carried on, nurses volunteered to stay and help them. Hot water was essential for the operations. The men in the boilerhouse, though knowing that the bomb was liable to go off near them at any minute, stayed at their job.

It was six o'clock before all three operations were completed. Other casualties from the medical students' quarters were being given blood transfusions or having their wounds bound up.

Meanwhile, the work of evacuating the patients in the wards went on. They included the usual patients and a number of casualties from previous nights' raids.

First on the list were four mothers and their newly-born babies in the maternity ward. All the telephones in the hospital had been put out of action-except

Troops' Changed Attitude

Neutrals who have recently arrived in Lisbon from Paris describe the attitude of the German troops of occupation as much changed during the past six weeks. Those who business dealings with them at that time found them confident, if not arrogant.

Nowadays, say these neutral business people, they are visibly worried and by no means so selfconfident. Fewer German officers and men are seen in Paris, the fact being that many walk out in mufti. Parisians never speak of "Les Allemands," but when referring to them in conversation always say "Ces Messieurs."

British males who had been interned in Fresnes prison have now been transferred to the former French infantry barracks at Saint Denis, just outside Paris.

They obtain relief through the American Embassy in Paris, where the British Relief Committee is established.

SHORT SHRIFT FOR BOYS

The Italian Government has issued a decree ordering all boys to wear shorts up to their seventeenth. birthday. They are forbidden to wear long trousers.

Official reasons for are that the order shorts are more elegant, that it saves material, and will stop the poorer classes envying the richer classes.

The flight of wealthy Germans with their wives and children from Berlin and other bombed German cities to Vienna is continuous.

Hotels and boarding-houses in Vienna are now crowded with refugees. Officials and S.S. leaders declare that they have come to Vienna only on Government or party business.

Berlin censors have allowed correspondents of Balkan newspapers to refer only vaguely to the terrific pounding of the German capital and other cities.

Anger over British air raids finds expression in Berlin news-The Embassy, which is in papers. The British are denouncobjects only by accident.

Fired by a conscientious desire to "see for himself," Dr. von Wedel, the official historian of the Luftwaffe, recently flew over England in a raiding Messerschmidt. As luck would have it, the machine, like Humpty Dumpty, had a great fall, with the result that the enterprising doctor is now languishing in a prison camp. There, presumably, he will profit by ample, if ignominious, leisure to ponder the personal, factual, and "moral" results of the blitzkrieg. may even — who knows? — have further awkward experience of it if, as is expected, the aim of the German bombers becomes increasingly erratic as they are forced to ever higher altitudes. After all, a Nazi prisoner, however, distinguished, is no more easily to be identified from a height of thirty thousand feet or so than a British Tommy or a humble civilian. Whatever may be argued on that point, it is quite clear that inspectorial wisits of the kind ventured by Dr. von Wedelshould not only be encouraged by the British authorities, but earnestly solicited. No inducement should be spared to convince the leaders of the Third Reich that frequent flights over "enemy territory" would be widely regarded with expectancy and approval. This especially applies to the "Big Four"—Hitler, Goering, Himmler, and Goebbels—to whom individually, or as a group, a warm, though perhaps not wholly disinterested, welcome could be promised — nay, assured. With this permicious quartet safely behind wire, or (if the worst) came to the best) the subjects of ungrudged cereobseguies, monial weight of woe would be lifted from a world they have too long afflicted.

Fire almost destroyed the General Post Office.

Some of the city's main gas works are badly damaged.

The blaze started by R.A.F bombers in an attack on the Lehrter railway station and goods yards burned for many hours.

Damage done at the Portsdamer and Anhalter stations combined with that inflicted on other important lines, of communication outside the city, seriously affected the German transport system.

One traveller setting out from Berlin for a town in the Rhine-land had to spend three days instead of twelve hours.

Canals Damaged

Traffic on the Mittelland Canal was interrupted for five days after the destruction of two sluice gates.

On the Dortmund-Ems Canal the east wall immediately north of the old aqueduct has been broken; there are two fresh bomb craters on the east embankment; barges and harbour and loading installations damaged.

Damage done to the petrol and synthetic oil plants at Politz, near Stettin, has been confirmed.

On the night of October 2 a large ship fully loaded with grain received a direct hit, caught fire and was still burning two days later.

At Hamburg five ships were sunk in the harbour.

Great industrial plants over a wide area of Germany have been severely punished.

The large aluminium works at Bitterfeld, it is stated, were closed for some weeks after a heavy raid. Observers report, too of the value of the R.A.F.'s determined attacks on the invasion ports.

One report states that on September 16 many German troops were embarked, but were later taken off the ships.

Invasion plans were not adopted because of the sustained offensive by the R.A.F:

HER LIFE BEGAN AT 70

Life began at 70 for Adeline Reynolds, of San Francisco. At that age she graduated at the University of California.

She is a widow and had worked hard to educate her four children. Then she thought it was time to educate herself.

Now on her 80th birthday, after completing a course in dramatics, she has become a film star.

She has signed a film contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at a salary of £125 a week in a picture with Hedy Lamarr and James Stewart.

DEALING WITH THE STRAGGLERS

When enemy bombers cross the English coast they generally fly in close formation, with their protecting fighters stepped up above them. Even when attacked, they make every effort to keep their formation, for our Spitfire and Hurricane pilots have no sympathy with stragglers.

How two such laggards were dealt with has been described by a flying officer of an auxilliary squadron who sighted between 30 and 40 Junkers 88 bombers off the North-East coast.

"I found two stragglers and engaged one just out to sea," he said. "I made three attacks and after the second he went down in a shallow dive with smoke pouring from the fuselage.

"I attacked again. This time he spiralled through cloud into the sea."

"I climbed again and found another straggler. After firing three or four bursts from astern, there was an explosion in the centre of the fuselage and he went right down."

After some accurate shooting, a Spitfire pilot saw his bullets strike a bomb in the rack of a straggling Junkers 88. He did not see much after that, for there was a flash and the Nazi bomber blew up in mid-air.

A Canadian pilot officer also dealt swiftly and severely with a straggler from a formation of between 80 and 90 enemy aircraft.

"I made three attacks," he said, "and the first silenced the rear gunner who had opened fire on me.

Then smoke came from the bomber and the starboard motor

He came down on a civil aerodrome, and three of the crew got out and were captured."

After shooting down a straggling Dornler bomber a Hurricane pilot had the unpleasant experience of a "lap full of petrol" when his tank was hit by the fire of another enemy aircraft.

"We sighted a large formation of enemy bombers, and I saw one machine—a Dornier—out of formation, so I chased it" the pilot said. "I closed and I felt my aircraft hit several times by rear gun fire from another of the enemy.

into the starboard side of the Dornier. Then my centre tank burst and I had a lap full of petrol. I was struck in the face by a piece of bullet, so I broke off the attack, switched off my lengine and petrol and dived away.

"I forced landed in a field. An Army officer and some soldiers: who came up to my sireraft and clive a rubsequently guarded it, told me they had seen my scrap, and had watched the bomber dive down in flemes about eight miles from Columbo Where I landed."

LINERS' NAMES CHANGED

American President Lines have announced the changing of the names of certain vessels, employed in the round-world service.

The President Hayes and the President Polk have been rechristened the President Tyler and the President Taylor, the President Garfield has become the President Madison; the President Monroe is now the President Buchanan; on January 17, the President Van Buren becomes the President Fillmore.

The name changes were necessary to avoid duplication in the Amoy Baugkok Helavia. The seven new round-world liners. With one exception, have been given the names of the original ships in this service, hence the latter had to be changed.

Indians Favoured To Beat The Filipinos

By "Grandstand"

AFTER ENJOYING a lay-off for three weeks, the Hong Kong Baseballers will again be seen in action when they tangle with the League-leading; St. Joseph's in the opener of the Men's Senior Softball League, scheduled for 1.30 p.m. to-morrow on the Kowloon Football Ground.

In the first round, when these two teams were pitted against each other, the Mohawks were handicapped by their strangeness to the game of softball, but have since mastered this past-time and risen to championship calibre.

Regular Line-Up

their regular line-up of Ernle steady down. Hearther at first, keystoner Crews, third-sacker Lou Leight, with Fitch in the short-stop position, Cardeners will be Sperry in left Sells in centre and either Rowland or Molthen in right.

The Saints will start Frankie Gonzales with Hal Winglee behind the bat. Charlie Manson, who has shown good pitching form lately, will be in reserve. Stamping l around the initial station will "Ozo" Ozorio, keeping the midway cushion, George "Strawberry" Souza in the windy alley, and Collegian hard-hitting cleaner-upper Dave Leonard guarding the hotright.

AND HOW!

By "Grandstand"

The Bomber Fund must have benefitted extensively judging from the large crowd that turned out on the Kowloon Football ground on Boxing Day for a good morning's entertainment the morning's entertainment, the Graybeards humiliating the Tenderfeet by 17-14, in a "classic" softball tilt.

Doc "bonesetter" Molthen proved he was no slouch as he toiled on the slab for the veterans, and in spite of Frost's oversized mitt, which almost shaded the whole park from the sun, the young 'uns were unable to stem the score.

Grandma, Hutchinson pinchedhit for "Guinea Gold" Ögden in the third.

In the other rib-tickler, the team selected from the Ladies League took the Kowloon Kops for a buggy ride: If figures mean any thing, the game ended with the

REFURNIEH WITH CARDINALS

By "Grandstand"

MOST INTERESTING TIET ON THE LADIES' THREE-GAME SCHEDULE WILL BE THE CARDINALS WAHOOS CLASH SEATED FOR 10.30 A.M.

In their first encounter, the Redhirds mowed down the Wahoos by the convincing score of 7-2, but the odds are against them repenting this performance, since the Green-shirted Owls have been considerably strengthened by the addition of Therese Noronha, who should be able to hold down the Cards, on the mound.

As usual, Jackie Anderson will be hindsnatching, with an infield line-up of first-sacker Yvonne "Hit-and-run" Yolle, Socorrin "Sese" Castro at second, Ida "Sweet as apple-cider" Castro at third, and Irene Castilho at shortstop, Relief hurler Jeannette "Blondie" Yolle will be cut in left field, with Beebun "Bunny" Abbas and Coco Yolle at centre and right.

Best Girl Pitcher

Redbird hurler, Efegina Babida, probably the best pitcher in the ladies' loop, with the additions of Kitty Bush and Grandma Hutchinson in the infield, should give the Wahoos a good fight, Coach Dave "I hope so" Walker's line-up has not yet been devided [IN the Small Units Rugby League; 🤄 upon but will probably be Kitty Bush at first, Gilly Motta at second. Betty Fitzgerald at short, and Gladys "Grandma" Hutchinson at Rugby, and defeated them by (Hal Winglee, Nick Beltrao and Dave third, with rookie Pat Jorge in the left field.

Hal Winglee, Nick Beltrao and Dave Walker have been selected to umpire this game. At noon, the Recreio Ramblerettes should be able to account for the Chung Hwa lassies, who are still in the role of League door-mat. Recreio, on their own ground, should get the better of C.S.C.C. providing they can get Richardson, Perry, Attwell, Fortescue and Griffiths out cheaply enough. The visitors will miss McLellan, who would very likely have done well on the King's Park wicket.

The Club team to meet Army does not look very impressive and if the latter turn out a representative side they should win.

Craigengower, who will have out quite a strong team, should have one of their infrequent wins at the expense of University.

Junior matches should result in wins for K.C.C., C.S.C.C., Craigengower and Recreio.

Storm Part Of The Nazi War Of Nerves

(By Reuter's Diplomatic Correspondent) MANY RUMOURS which flow in almost daily about large German troop movements in the Balkans, in Italy and elsewhere are likely to be part of the German propaganda machine.

It is believed the Germans are taking advantage of the fact that while there is no really clear-cut policy for them to circulate in Europe, rumours such as these from the United States could be very useful to them and harmful to the British cause.

In the case of reports of troop concentrations in Rumania, the Germans have fastened on to an announcement by the Hungarian railway authorities that traffic was to be curtailed from December 28.
